Designblok

Designblok, Prague International Design Festival is the largest exhibition of design and fashion in central and eastern Europe, held in the creative heartland of the European continent. The six-day festival starts off with a day dedicated to the experts (Professionals' Day) and continues with a five-day exhibition for the public which presents new projects from over two hundred carefully selected makers, studios and established brands. The festival's curated exhibitions react to current social topics, draw attention to the work of both up-and-coming and long-established designers, and offer a creative and professional business platform which provides opportunity for the meeting of designers and companies with the expert public, suppliers and customers. The exhibitions also include a wide-ranging accompanying program in the form of lectures and discussions, field-specific encounters, fashion shows and other special events which open spaces for networking and mutual inspiration.

Over 41 000 people visit Designblok festival each year, including designers, curators, collectors, architects, interior designers, journalists and design lovers.

Designblok is supported by an intense media campaign which impacts a wide spectrum of professionals as well as the general public. Prestigious Czech and international media regularly cover the festival and the exhibited projects through television outlets, radio, print and online media, social networks, podcasts and other novel formats. Over 350 journalists from Czechia and abroad visited the festival last year and, according to Newton Media monitoring, the festival has been featured in over 1200 media releases between 1 January – 31 December 2023.

The 26th Designblok's main theme is YOUTH.

“A period connected with new beginnings, love, grand plans and expectations. Time flows slower and nothing is impossible. In 2023, Designblok celebrated a quarter century of its existence in grand style. Although it is among the oldest design exhibitions in the world, it is still young in its dynamic development. In the historical and social context, design itself is a relatively new discipline, but it is certainly a great mover of the 21st century. With a bit of hyperbole we can say that design is one of the key ingredients of youth and longevity, which we all long for. It brings innovation as well as functional and aesthetic progress to the world and is able to prolong life and improve its quality.”

Jana Zielinski, director of Designblok festival

Superstudio, Prague City Museum

Designblok will be the first to open the Prague City Museum's main building at Florenc after its overall renovation. The exhibition spaces will be taken over by Superstudio - novelties from both Czech and international producers, developed in collaborative projects with the world's most eminent designers. Apart from stellar quality and fair production methods, it was the collaboration with designers that constituted a basic criterion for the exhibited projects' selection. All fields of design will be on display here, predominantly furniture, lightings and home accessories.
